About the European Lawyer Programme

The European Law School (network) was established in 2006 by its three founding members (King's College London, Humboldt University and Université Panthéon-Assas, Paris 2) in order to establish and develop the European Lawyer programme (the 'Juriste Européen'). University of Rome La Sapienza (Rome, Italy) and the University of Amsterdam (Amsterdam, The Netherlands) have recently become members of this prestigious programme.

Students on this programme pursue undergraduate studies at their home institution for three years and follow that by spending a year each at two of the three partner universities, obtaining a Masters degree at each. During their fourth and fifth years, students concentrate on specialist subject areas.

The central objective of the course of study is to enable students to obtain a deep knowledge and understanding of three separate legal systems in Europe, as well as of European law generally. In this way it will enable them to acquire the skills necessary to practice as a European lawyer in the global environment.
